

Janet McAllister is a Mt Eden resident and an arts generalist: she writes a weekly arts and culture column and reviews theatre for the New Zealand Herald. She is also a freelance editor (including for Courtney Sina Meredith's 2012 poetry collection Brown Girls in Bright Red Lipstick) and an essay of hers was a finalist in the 2009 Bill Manhire Creative Science Writing Awards in the non-fiction category. She recently completed an MA in sociology and is a volunteer researcher for Auckland Action Against Poverty.